The county election is over, and the county of Oahu has chosen its first set of officers. A. M. Brown has been elected Sheriff, but in spite of that the straight ticket fetish has been thrown down, for Richard Trent has beaten Booth for County Treasurer, and Quinn has been defeated for Supervisor from Oahu. The Civic Federation could not elect Fern, but it could and did beat Quinn. The Federation has scored, likewise, in the defeat of R. C. Lane for Supervisor from the Koolaupoko District, where the Fusionist candidate, James K. Paele, has been elected by a majority of more than one hundred in a total vote of 365.

The defeat of Booth, perhaps the most impressive result of the election, was decisive. It carries a lesson that a new power, to be reckoned with hereafter, has entered Hawaiian politics. And that despite of the fact that Brown triumphed and will without doubt claim that he has been vindicated at the polls as to his removal from office by Governor Carter. There were, however, many things that contributed to Brown's victory. Many of those who voted for him, bound by the idea of the straight ticket, perhaps against their own judgment, were friends of Governor Carter and refused all through the campaign to believe that Brown's fight was a fight against the Governor and the administration. It remains to be seen, in the manner in which Brown's most enthusiastic supporters will triumph, whether these gentlemen were correct in their contention.

There can be no doubt that another candidate in Brown's place, not handicapped as Brown was, would have received all the votes that were given to Henry—and many, perhaps, that went to Poepeo. There can be no doubt that the story persistently and possibly malignantly circulated yesterday to the effect that Henry had given up the fight caused many votes to turn from him to Brown, through the old fear of a Home Rule triumph. The Democrats, who nominated Poepeo, did not vote for him, but for Brown—or, at least, very many of them did not vote for him.

SHERIFF A. M. BROWN.

And every vote that Henry got was almost certainly a Republican vote.

The defeat of Booth by Trent is significant, because it is a direct and definite triumph for the Civic Federation. The element of the popularity or the unpopularity of the Governor and his administration did not enter at all into this fight, and there was no question of a vindication. Neither man had ever been dismissed from public place, with or without cause. It stands as a plain warning to the political parties of the future that they must nominate the best men that they have if they expect to command popular support. The almost best will not do.

The defeat of Quinn differs slightly from that of Booth, but it is still a victory for the Federation, although Fern, the Federation man, was also beaten. There entered into this fight, however, the straight party spirit. Fern had been a member of the convention which nominated Quinn, and had asked office from that convention. The charge that he had broken faith was made against him in the fight, and although it could not save Quinn, the charge beat Fern. Between these two, Moore the Fusionist slipped in and snatched victory.

In the outside districts, the results generally favored the Republicans, save that Lane was beaten for Supervisor from Koolaupoko, and Frank Archer was elected Supervisor from Ewa. There is perhaps no significance in this last, however, beyond the mere question of personal popularity.

The following figures were given out about one o'clock this morning from the office of the Secretary of the Territory: Brown, 2438; Poepeo, 2014; Henry, 870.

It was not claimed that these were official, as two or three outside districts had been received over the telephone and there may have been a misunderstanding of some results, but this is said to be very close to the official result.

BROWN SPEAKS TO CROWD IN STREET

At half-past ten o'clock last night Arthur M. Brown, the newly elected Sheriff of the county of Oahu, spoke to a crowd of cheering thousands from the veranda in front of the Advertiser office. The crowd had collected in front of the Advertiser office early in the evening, and stayed there. When Mr. Brown appeared, and was called on for a speech, the men were massed all across the street, and from Fort to beyond Bethel, and there were many

WATERHOUSE MAKES AN ANNOUNCEMENT

"You may announce," said Chairman Waterhouse of the Republican County Committee, as the last precinct was recorded at headquarters shortly after 11 last night, "that the straight has won its fight in the main. We have elected all our candidates for Honolulu with the exception of Booth and Quinn."

BOWEN IS DISMISSED FROM DIPLOMATIC SERVICE

President Roosevelt Says That the Conduct of the Minister to Venezuela Has Been Most Reprehensible.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Minister Bowen has been dismissed from the service, President Roosevelt saying that his conduct has been most reprehensible.

The following dispatch will explain the charges upon which Bowen has been dismissed:

WASHINGTON, June 1.—From unquestioned sources it is learned that the Bowen-Loomis investigation has practically been concluded by Secretary Taft and the President, and the conclusion reported is that Francis B. Loomis, Assistant Secretary of State, while not guilty of the charges preferred against him in the asphalt case, or of other charges, has been indiscreet, and is likely to suffer mild reprimand. The charges preferred by Loomis that Bowen instigated and made public the charges against him have been proved, and Bowen will either be dismissed from the service or demoted. The former is regarded as the most likely punishment to be meted out. Minister Russell of Venezuela is now on his way here to give testimony, but he can throw no additional light upon the case.

HYDE AND ALEXANDER OUT OF EQUITABLE

NEW YORK, June 21.—Morton has accepted the resignations of Hyde and Alexander of the Equitable.

J. W. Alexander was president and James H. Hyde vice-president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, and have been charged with mismanagement of the affairs of the society. There were scandals in connection with the actions of Hyde, an elaborate dinner at which a French dancer was said to have pirouetted on the table, being among the ways he was said to have spent money that should have gone to the stockholders. Alexander and Hyde stoutly denied the allegations of mismanagement, but the report of the committee of stockholders, headed by Henry C. Frick, the steel magnate, scored them unmercifully and practically forced their resignations. Paul Morton, who resigned the Secretaryship of the Navy to accept the management of the Equitable, is to receive a salary of $100,000 per year. He will undertake the reorganization of the society and the straightening out of its financial affairs. James H. Hyde, the deposed vice-president of the society, is a son of the late Henry B. Hyde, who organized the Equitable.

JAPANESE EXPECT VICTORY.

TOKIO, June 21.—The Russians have been outflanked, and a great Japanese victory is expected in the near future.

LINEVITCH PREDICTS VICTORY.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 21.—General Linevitch has wired the Emperor that victory is near.

SPANISH CABINET RESIGNS.

MADRID, Spain, June 21.—The Cabinet has resigned.

AN IMMENSE CROWD ON KING STREET TO WATCH FOR RETURNS

Election night was a gala night in Honolulu. It seemed as if every man, woman and child in the city was down town during the evening. Under the glittering electric lights of people swarmed up and down the streets, almost every one wearing the insignia of his or her favorite candidate. Before the newspaper offices on King street there were throngs of people packing the street from building to building. Scores of police officers made lanes through the packed masses of humanity for the street cars with the utmost difficulty. With loudly clanging gongs the cars, each in charge of an inspector, crept through the crowds while squads of bluecoated officers pressed the people back to let them pass.

The Advertiser had the first bulletins of the evening. At about half-past six o'clock, an hour before its competitors, returns from the country districts and partial reports from the city precincts, began to be posted. Under the glare of a huge arc light great sheets on which the names of the candidates and their totals by precincts were printed, were suspended from the balcony in front of the building. There was no attempt to entertain the crowd with music, pictures or any other vaudeville attractions. The people were after the returns and they got them from the Advertiser bulletins. The returns were given far ahead of competitors, were the most detailed, were correct and easy to read. Beside the figures by precincts, special bulletins gave the total count on and various offices at frequent intervals and gave to the people the statements of the campaign managers in regard to the outcome of the fight.

The first bulletins posted at about 6:30 brought a big crowd in front of the Advertiser building and this crowd was augmented every moment from that time until the lights went out after the final result was shown at 10:40 p. m. More than three thousand people packed the narrow street in front of the office and cheered their favorites as the returns came in. The crowd was orderly and there were few cases of drunkenness observed. All the candidates had many friends and every new phase in the struggle as mirrored in the returns was greeted with loud cheers. Many bets had been laid that Henry would not pull 500 votes, and there were many cheers as he slowly but surely pulled above the estimated total. For a time it looked as if Poepeo was going to pull ahead and there was wild enthusiasm among his supporters, but this was soon drowned by the shouts of Brown's admirers as their choice took first place by a decisive majority. The climax of the enthusiasm was reached when the victorious candidates addressed the people from the balcony of the Advertiser office.

There were crowds around the various voting places during the counting of the votes but there was little excitement and absolutely no trouble. In fact many people commented on the fact that after a campaign in which so many names had been called there should be such a quiet election. The count proceeded rapidly and was finished remarkably early. Then the people scattered to celebrate, each in his own way.
